Walking through the halls of Bishop Donahue for the first time, you had many ideas concerning the next four years. Whatever these ideas were or became, the four years have passed, during which your experiences included trials, joys, troubles, and accomplishments.

And now as you are on the threshold of becoming alumnus, we present to you various memories of the people places, and events that have become part of your life here at Bishop Donahue.

STUDENT LIFE

In the beginning it is still warm and the leaves are still on the trees and everyone is still tan. But they are all coming back. Everyone; the Sisters, the new teachers, (and the brave "old" ones) and most of the students who are not sure whether they're anxious to forget how they got so tan. A chubby lad lugging a three-pound filler notebook emerges from the stair-well, perspiring. "Where's 23?" to no one particular. One of the group standing in the hall, the soon-to-be-elected-president, points vaguely: "Should be down there. You know as much about the place as we do." Like how it rains all the time.

In front of the Library a junior meets a freshman and sneaking into the gym, they over-look the ubiquitous Coach sneaking behind them just waiting to catch them in the act and sure enough-four others are already quietly tussling over who is to be the next performer. Just then our "peeping Tom" bursts through the doors and throws even the girls off the football team . . . !

"Hey did you see the Library yet?" a NHS member asked. With the books all arranged in a discerning, but orthodox order, and the tables situated in a more comfortable manner, the reply came, "Yea! there are a lot of kids in there too!"

Tarp, crepe, chaperones, and the "Welcome Dance" blares. Very dim lights and the rafters are shaking. Everyone is laughing and the Philly and " . . . yes, Mother, we are really studying up there. No, no one smokes; yes the boys dance with the girls . . . "

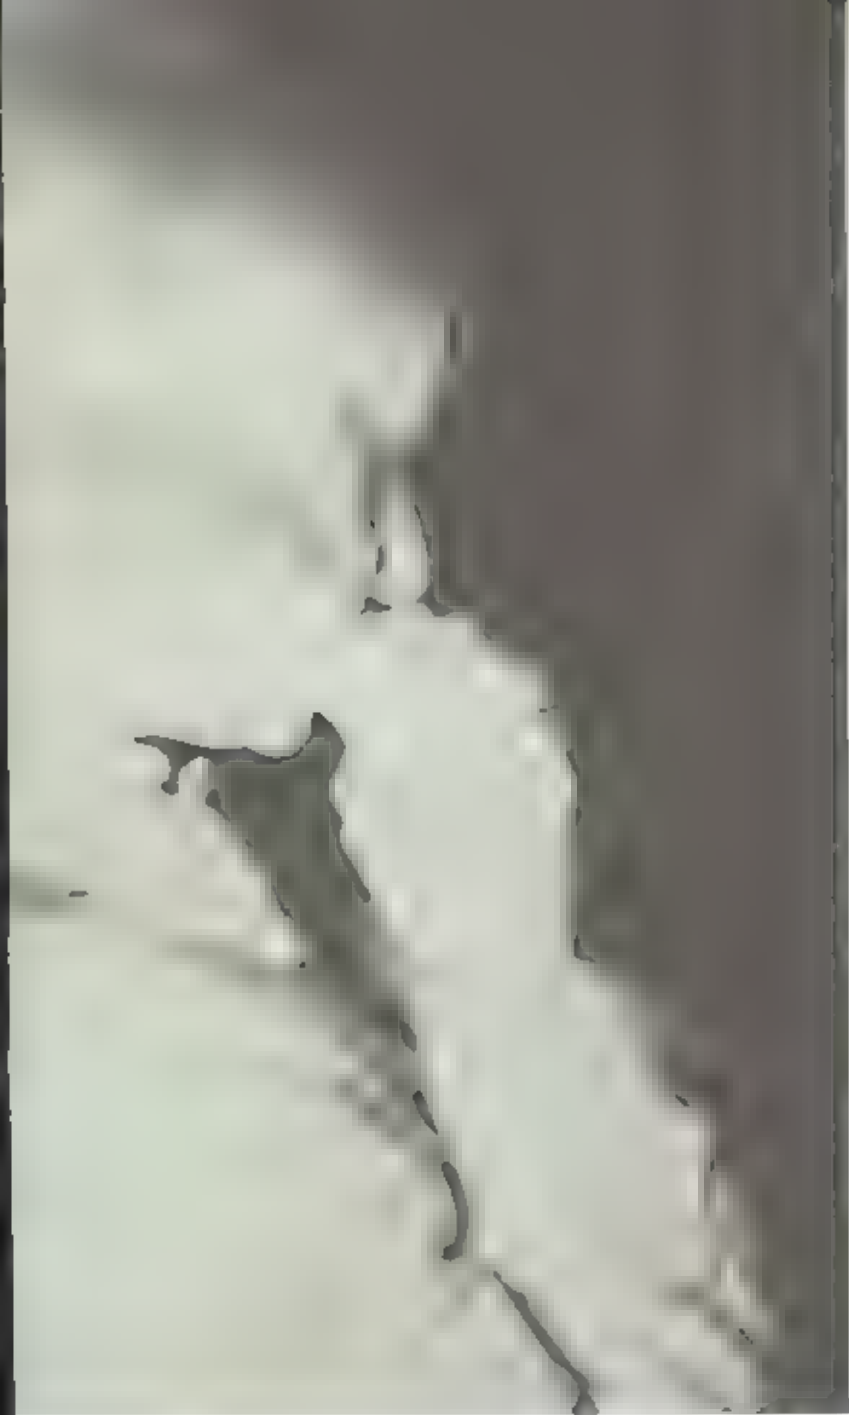

Well, "St. Jude" looks about the same—except for all of the people. The football players, cheerleaders and Pep Club Members—all in uniform and so many cameras! Mr. Healy said, "Bring cameras," and cameras were brought!! Everyone's anxious and can't wait until the next "Parents" Club Meeting" to see the colored movies. Hey! It's even rumored we might be able to see them during second or third periods next Tuesday morning. Our grid team has patiently stood and posed for twelve snap-shots. They look a little thirsty and this smothering afternoon isn't helping. The Pep Club to the rescue . . . "Here fellas!!!" (And the pepsi was cold and refreshing. Who pays the bill???) "When's our first game?" Sister asked one of the busy celebrities. "Look Sister, smile," came the reply. Miss Paluch has confidence that the Pep Club will continue to uphold its fine reputation. — Well, everyone's leaving and it's the beginning of another season for the Bishops . . . "Go you mighty Bishops, Go!!!"

It is a crisp, autumn evening and a slow but biting wind is blowing. Many familiar, friendly faces watch the festivities—our Homecoming bonfire is lit while the cheerleaders lead the crowd in strong cheers . . .

support for the Bishops . . .

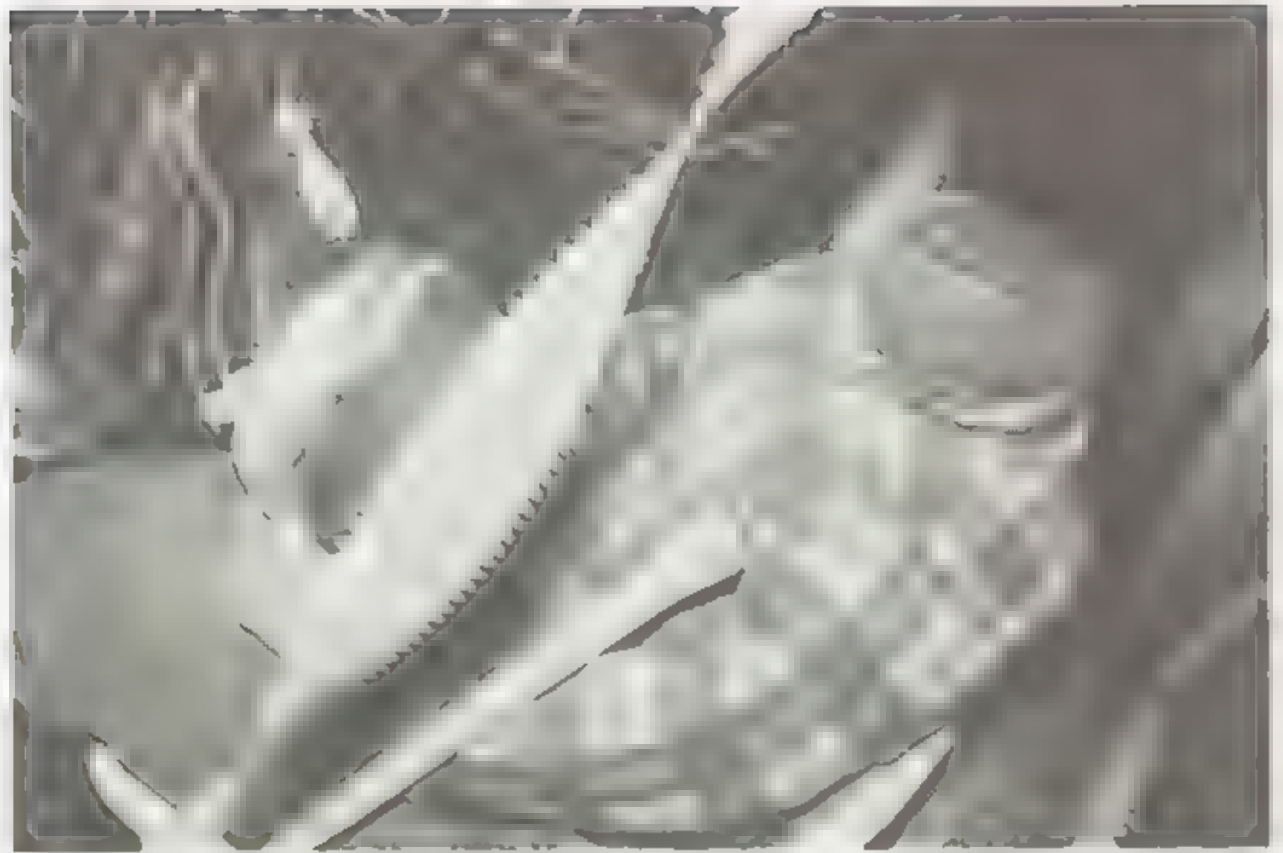

Excitement mounts as the evening progresses. The crowd cheers on . . but now the words are a little different —“ . . . We want A HOT DOG!!!” Faces beaming with smiles—cheering ceases. Everyone crowds around the radiant fire, roasting the hot dogs and marshmallows supplied by a generous Pep Club.

Piling into the stadium three hundred colors fade into one another. Patches of gold dotting the bleachers play off the fans' loyalty. From all directions, walking, riding . . . to HOMECOMING!!! Mile long signs everywhere—ambitious girls? "Look at that one!! There must be fifteen hundred green and yellow tissues . . ." "And Christy yells back, "Fourteen hundred and ninety-six!!!" But no one seems to notice how cold it is, not even our candidates, for the air is obviously one . . . tense, excitement. On the field . . . all ninety-nine girls of the Pep Club form a tremendous "V" for Victory. "Hail to thee of Alma Mater, . . . we lift our joyful voices . . . to pledge our loyalty . . ." The referee drops his hands. The player gracefully moves up to the tee and the pig-skin sails. Halftime comes quickly. Paden City marches out, around, back into a heart. Our debutantes are escorted through to a line in front of flashing bulbs and beaming faces. Mary Margaret radiantly walks back and forth, (As little Jamie Rodriguez drops the pillow, many hearts drop with it) and, ". . . the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. . . ." blares. The cheers grow louder with each bouquet presented. Cameras, film, speaker, noise, and " . . . The 1966 Bishop Donahue Homecoming Queen—Miss Vicki Lavenski!!!" Spontaneous screams, shouts, and shrieks immediately show approval. The second announcement, ". . . Homecoming King is Mr. Jim Hawk!!!" Seven full minutes of applause . . .

With a cloud of dust they arrived, decked in their "Sunday-go-meetin'" best! Brigade of Bums (anonymous!). Gym contaminated, bursting with ridiculous, comical laughter; "CALL ME MELLOW YELLOW . . ." shaking the rafters. An occasional dillywobble. Johnny Long before a pacific audience vainly announcing to the hysteria—crepe paper continues to fall. Short relief . . . music stops . . . soiled, painted, plastic faces gaze; "We'll have a judging contest if you'd like . . ." Screams and applause reply. Enthusiastically thirteen girls (?) mount the stage; Hummm, Aunt Jemima or Marlon Brando??? The most laughs and prize go to Sandy. As the fellows take their turn, all immediately know . . . Wayne—member of KKK . . .

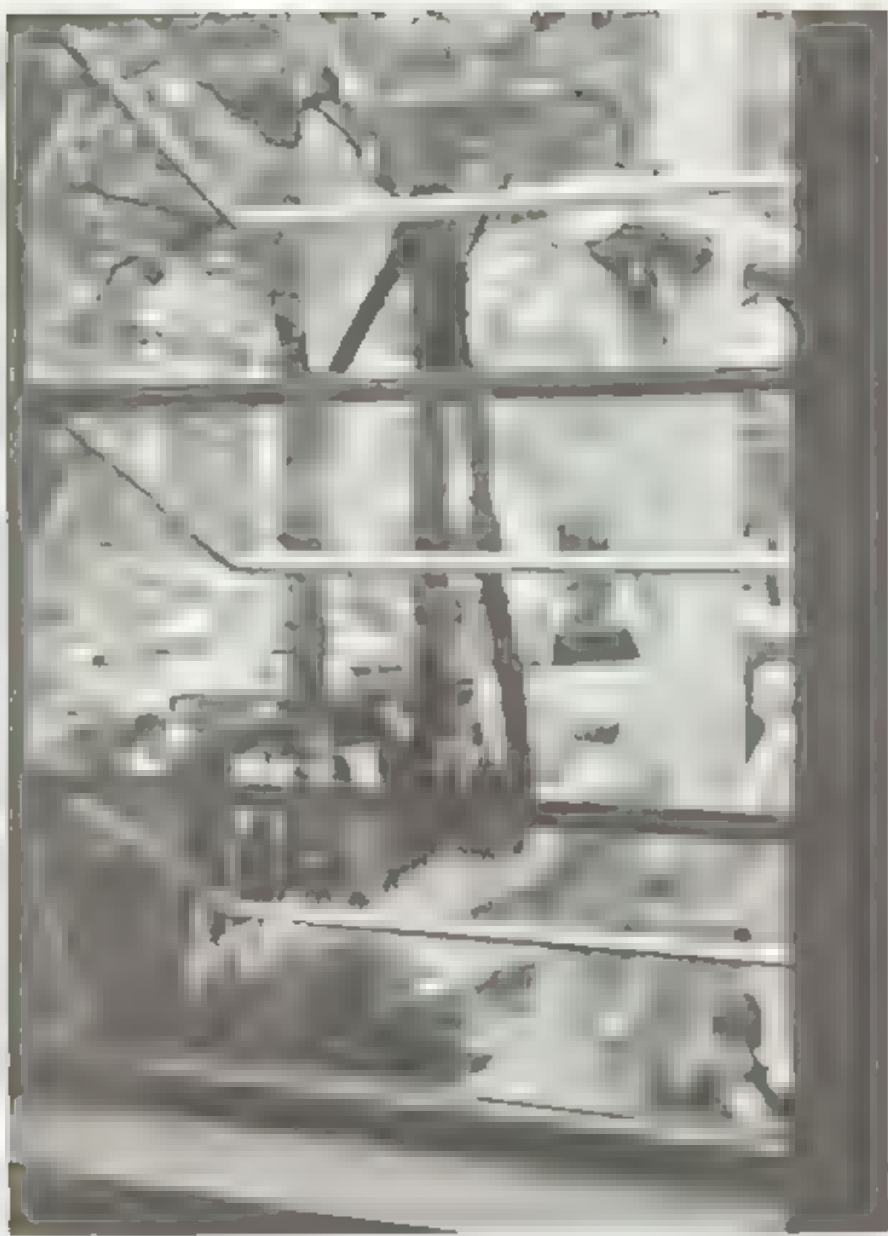

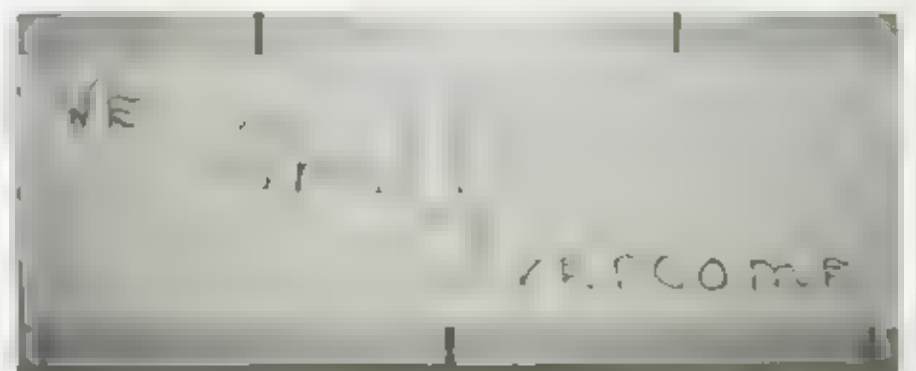

The Juniors receive their class rings . . . the symbol of an upperclassman. Their big moment—they proudly try them on. First time . . . class rings are round and all have red stones.

Results of the mock election held by the Civics class (which did extensive campaigning) proved opposite of the state returns . . . all Democrats and Arch Moore were "elected." The amendments were unanimously approved by the students . . . and overwhelmingly rejected by the citizens . . .!

Chilly, wind blowing; over to the Church. " . . . My name is Father Eugene . . . the insignia—a Passionist Priest . . . " and Christian Leadership is a task for all. "We live in a marvelous time in the history of the Church . . . " Christ's added formula appears almost ironic: " . . . IF YOU WANT TO BE PERFECT, GO, SELL WHAT YOU HAVE AND GIVE TO THE POOR." J.F.K., our modern example, " . . . The person you help may be anyone, but the soul you save will be your own." Beverly Schnieder's remarkable conversions . . . The afternoon slipped away leaving many thoughts to be weighed . . . An evening down and the continuation . . . conferences, film strips, talks; "Sanctity For Our Times" accompanying our Folk-lore Mass . . . walking away, our thoughts abound . . .

It all starts at 12:15 . . .
the little ones leave and in groups they arrive; Stella always smiling—Josie too, welcoming the daily blur of blazers . . .to each by name a cheerful remark—and the day is going quicker . . .
And Siggie; as every student's right hand—always needed, always helping . . . an end to your generosity?

Then—Dear Mr. Rielly—around every corner; a grin and an ear to listen, to sympathize. He answers to many names (even "Uncle Joe"!)
But we keep him in his glory—there at every thuse, shyly peering through the stage, out at the students screaming
His Special Cheer . . .

MERRY CH

XISTMAS

. . . Christmas. Yuletide spirit over-shadows the hearts; Starts early-the tenth-with Sodality party. Home of the Good Shepherd girls . . . merriment; day quickly passes and with their animal-pillows they sadly leave . . . Now plans for the Dance . . . (Will the seniors break even?) Who'll play?
 Did you say Nobody's Children?
 Nativity scenes everywhere.
 Advent wreaths--and a special one by the office--a reminder, the Day is nearer and nearer.
 Last half day, almost here . . . Fourth period bell and Donahue roars!!!
 Caroling soft--two doors down--screeching laughter and obsessed with the spirit . . . but soon the parties cease; homeward bound . . . where the Holy Day's meaning shines.
 Looks like we might even have a White Christmas; and HE is here. The white valley opens its arms . . . five days later and bubbling with conversation the band starts playing . . .
 five more days and with conversation slightly dimmed . . .

Wednesday's thuse . . . how long until . . .
 Thursday morning! Screams, the cheers—Robin Hood already leading the Zelmo Beat and Alma Mater echoing, still,
 "We're gonna beat You!!!"

With all thumbs up, Bill drives away with the Mighty Bishops from the Northern Woods.
 And one tremendous human chain forms, screaming in the corridors from the lab to the lunchroom, "We're gonna beat you!!!"
 But . . . back to classes until . . . 5 A.M.
 The sleepy parade, all three buses punctually arrive. Just one mishap . . . "Wait, I forgot my ticket!!!" . . . and running back home . . . then finally, we're on the road.
 JIMBO'S sure has remodeled, even its service.

Huntington—115 miles . . . 63 miles . . . two accidents . . .

"Welcome to 'The Tournament City.'"

The chaotic lobby—"What's your room no.?"

"383." "That's MY room!" "No, it isn't!"

"Be back on the bus at . . ."

"H-E-L-L-O, Donahue says 'Hello' To . . ."
 and the fight is on. 9-8 Donahue AHEAD!!!

—Joe looks great, Jim, Dick, Woe, and Al TOO!

Coach is so proud.

Did Mr. Haberfield drop his teeth this year?
 Holding them with experienced might, the Bishops are giving C.C.H.S. quite a fight. But we're proud of our team . . .

"Did you say Huntington St. Joe's is having a dance???"

Due to the unfortunate accident of the Martinsburg's team—no Saturday afternoon game—the shops buzzed until . . . 6:30 and the buses were full, off to the St. Joe—St. Francis game and . . .

 Marshall's Dance. Finally Sunday arrives and the tense excitement—announcing the eighth All-Tournament Player Trophy to

"Bishop Donahue's JOE VARGO!!!"

So our weekend is complete and with our hero—

to the buses again. Resolutions of next year's trophies and complaints of hunger pains fill the air for 37 miles—but our team! The Mayflower let us down again . . . "How far till JIMBO'S?"
 "I'm going to order the biggest . . ." and McMechen was now only four hours away . . .

An empty room speaks softly. Peer through the door-way, in solitude alone can you know the freedom of your thoughts. And the thoughts are bounteous. The echoes respond in various memories of smiles, sighs, and struggles. The shadows of teachers past are left purely to your imagination. In respect and admiration you recall their advice and tend to enforce their standards as yours for you no longer have misgivings of "shame."

The desks are also empty, yours and his. Their lessons have long been taught. It is time for you to acknowledge gratitude; so leave, not only this door-way, but all of Bishop Donahue's rooms. Take with you only a diverse love and a stable character that will persevere. It is now time for Wisdom to become Happiness.

HISTORY

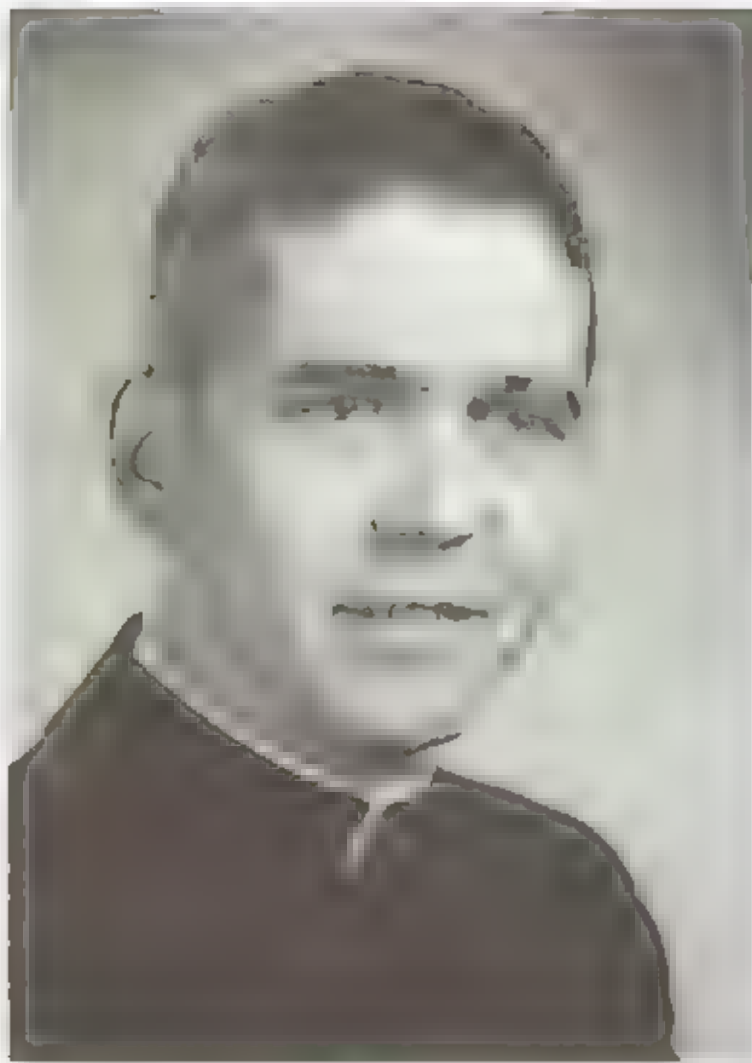

BISHOP PATRICK JAMES DONAHUE

Patrick James Donahue, the namesake of our high school, was born in Coventry, England, 1849. He came to the United States when he was twenty-one and entered Columbia University, New York, where he became a very successful lawyer while working for the B&O Railroad Company. When he was a little past thirty, the call of God came to him; and after four years in the seminary, he was ordained by Cardinal Gibbons on December 23, 1885. In 1894 he took formal possession of the Diocese of Wheeling, starting a term which would see a tremendous change in everyway throughout the entire territory of the diocese. One of his first improvements was to revise and improve the internal organization of his diocese. Bishop Donahue invited new religious orders to come to the diocese to take over newly established parishes and parish parochial schools. He also did much to further the building of charitable institutions, such as hospitals and orphan asylums. Bishop Patrick James Donahue passed to his eternal reward on October 4, 1922, completing twenty-eight years as the Ordinary of the Diocese of Wheeling. Bishop Donahue Memorial High School stands as a small tribute to a man who did a great deal to further the Catholic interests of our diocese.

TEACHERS

Sister John Marie, Principal

What is a teacher? A teacher is a mixture of many things. An actor, comedian, speaker and most of all an educator. During his fifty minutes of class he combines humor, opinions, and facts and presents them to his students to be packed away night after night assembling knowledge and bracing themselves for the next days challenges. But most of all a teacher is a friend, trying to instill in his students a right conscience and guideline for the future.

The contact between student and teacher is the genesis of education. This encounter overflows the classrooms, creating an academic community. The criteria for this community is the intellectual stimulation that arises from the common, yet compound, interests of students and faculty.

This year at Bishop Donahue, the gap between these two elements diminished early. Before and after classes, the library, office, and home-rooms invited all for conversation and facility.

The men and women on the next eight pages represent an ideal. At Bishop Donahue, the Greek concept of the poet-philosopher-statesman becomes the scholar-teacher. In fields from Mathematical Induction to the American Revolution, from the communication theory to political order, their studies set a vigorous pace, challenging, not coddling their students. They instruct, not with intentions of popularity, but an honest demand that their students raise themselves to the level of the subject. Although these teachers may not receive recognition outside of their departments, they deserve acknowledgement for their contributions to Bishop Donahue.

Pearl S. Buck: "Only the brave should teach"

Academic disciplines forged and tempered our teachers enabling them to most profitably give their students aspirations for knowledge. Mr. DiNapoli, (right), our science instructor, presents an empirical and pragmatic approach to life, one to which his students eagerly respond.

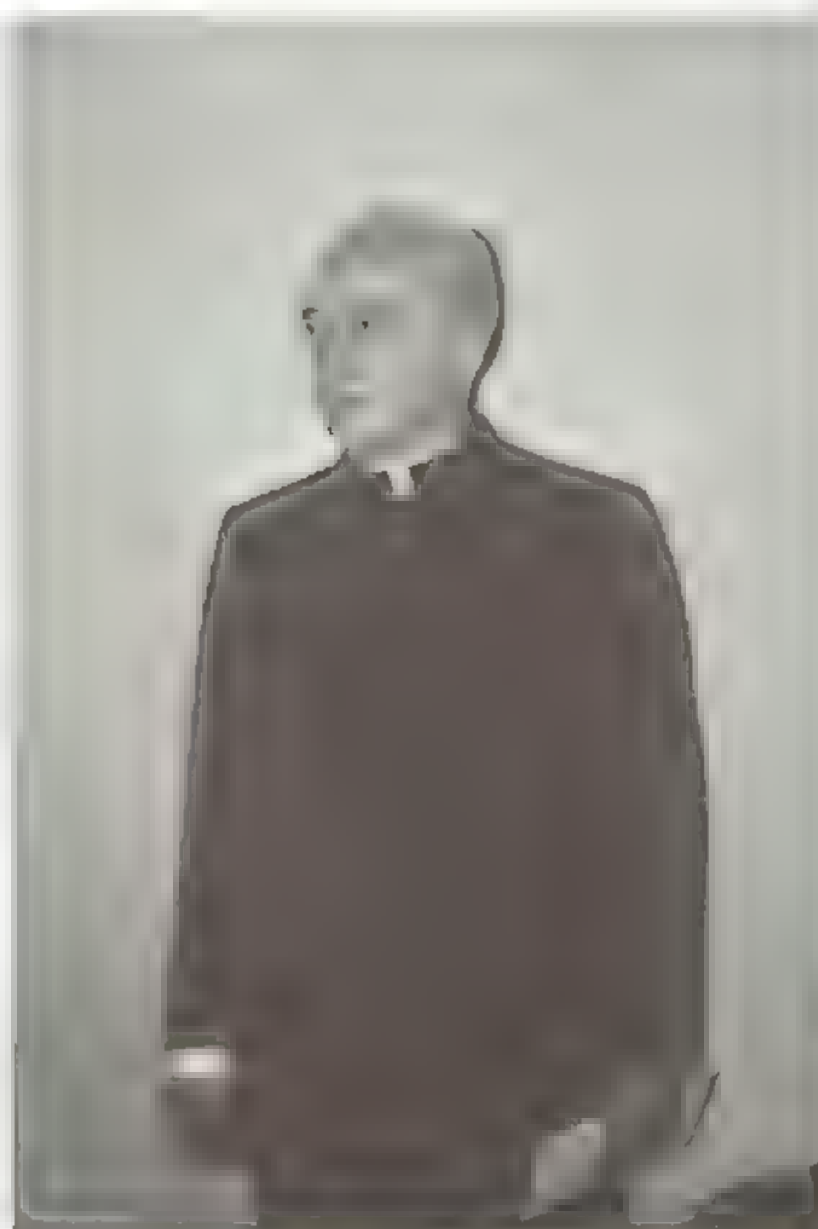

Sister Bertranda and Mr. Yaccino (opposite page), our Humanities teachers, successfully filled the void between the wh'er of mathematical and scientific formulas, to the humming of typewriters and taps of stenographers' pencils to drone of typed dialogue by appealing to and awakening minds. The students realized and profitted by the merits of humanistic disciplines. Having made this contact, Bishop Donahue truly accepts the title of a liberal educator.

ORGANIZATIONS

[Redacted caption text]

[Redacted caption text]

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, acting as a mediator between students and faculty, provides a forum for student expression. Two representatives selected from each class help to maintain a high standard of conduct throughout the school. Moderator is Mr. DiNapoli (Above) and officers are: President, Jim Holden, Vice-President, Jim Pearl, Secretary, Cindy Lewis, Treasurer, Pat Cook.

SCHOLARSHIP
LEADERSHIP SERVICE

The first National Honor Society in Bishop Donahue's history is under the guidance of Sister Paul Dominic. Members (Top) are selected on the basis of their scholarship, service, leadership, and character. The 1966-1967 officers of this chapter are: (Above) President, Jane McGreevy; Vice-President, Pam Maxwell; Secretary, Cindy Lewis; Treasurer, Steve Lubic. Reorganizing the Library was the first major project. Shown helping with this project are: Judy Hodulik, Sharon Malyski, and Anna Zink (Center).

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

PEP CLUB

The 1966-1967 officers of the Pep Club are (top): Treasurer, Jane McGreevy; President, Christy McCulley; Secretary, Cathy Kerwood. The Pep Club held the annual Homecoming Bonfire and with the help of its moderator, Miss Paluch (bottom) made signs, chartered buses for away games, and held thuses for home games. Members have supported the teams through victories and defeats, and have kept the spirit of "Big D" flying high.

DRAMA CLUB

Officers of the newly organized Drama Club are: President, Jim Holden; Secretary, Jane Kayser; Treasurer, John Jasinski (Top). This club, under the direction of Mr. Kochalka (below), provides expression for talented students and an opportunity for all members to study drama.

The unforgettable "Time Out For Ginger" and "The Mouse That Roared" were directed and produced by Mrs. Carroll. The success of these plays is attributed to her generous time and effort.

CLASS OFFICERS

SODALITY

The Sodalists, under the guidance of Sister Andrea (middle), promoted many worthwhile projects. The annual Christmas Party for the girls at the Home of the Good Shepherd tops the list. Donna Pelley, Susie Conners (Sodality Prefect), Pat Cook, Cathy Kerwood (Secretary), and Linda Baum (top) attended the annual Sodality Convention held in Weirton. The prevailing theme was "Peace". All the speakers based their subject matter on the beatitude, "Blessed are the Peacemakers for they shall be called children of God." On the first Tuesday of each month Sodalists attend Mass in a body.

THE BISHOP'S STAFF

As a pleasant and novel introduction to student life this year, Mr. Kochalka and Sister Andrea, (standing) in co-operation with their personel, presented THE BISHOP'S STAFF to Donahue. It opened the scholastic year as a venture which had yet to convince the students of its true worth and closed out as a firmly entrenched factor in their high school life.

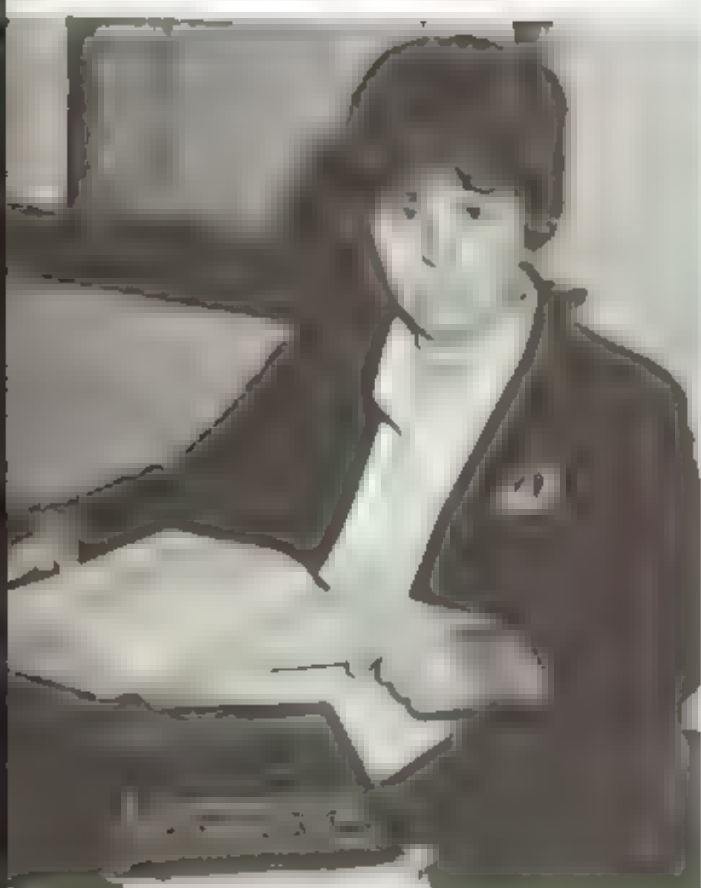

Editor-inchief Sharon Malyski, (seated center), operated with a quiet sophistication, keeping things flowing smoothly, except for occasional organized confusion during last minute deadlines. With Dave Malicki, (seated left), as assistant editor, editorials, short articles, and several in-depth coverages were to his credit.

Sports reviews and stories were complete this year. Much of these were due to Sports Editor Fred Nadolski, (center left).

The enormous financial job was undertaken by Business Manager Tom Kirchner, (center right).

A Gestetmer Mimeograph and Scope were donated to the school by the Parents Club.

With the aid of this new equipment Pam Maxwell, art editor, (seated right) was a tremendous help to the STAFF.

(Upper right) Coeditors: Jane Mc-Greevy, Vicki Lavenski; (Left) Business Manager: Judy Hodulik; (Lower Right) Advertising
Managers: John
Parker, Christy Mc-Culley.

VERITAS STAFF

THANKS

... to Sister John Marie who spent unending hours constructing this volume, advising, listening, and re-vising our ideas, acting head photographer, cleaning up-trying to keep some order in our "filing system", and countless other duties which we'll probably never know about ... to our hard-working staff: Jim Hawk, Fred Nadolski, Judy Hodulik, Patty Messick, Jim Holden, Christy McCulley, John Parker ... to Pam Maxwell for her beautifully-done drawings (and we might add "precisior"!)... the entire advertising committee that worked this summer raising capital ... all of the people who brought and gave money for sponsors and patrons (especially the two freshman classes that had the day off in reward!) ... to Donna Pelley for the excellent job of typing and Sigrid Kubeck, Betty Nemeth, Ed Bowman, Sara Reilly, Jeanette Kochalka, Peggy Noggy, Janice Sobutka, our other typists ... Bee ... the lovely Sister from Chicago who helped us put things together, all of the people who took time to pose for our pictures ... Mr. Charles Gruber for his wonderful generosity and photographs ... Mr. Jim Cocoran for taking and donating many pictures ... to Sister Andrea for her inspiring "jokes" (KIBBI?) ... Mr. DiNapoli for his study halls ... to all of our Seniors for various suggestions, errands, and adjustment to an all-new and modern yearbook ... The PTA Magazine, Look, Post ... and most especially to Mr. James R. Lynch for the use of his DOME ... and last but not least, our mothers Mrs. John McGreevy and Mrs. Stanley Lavenski for their untiring patience for their "late" daughters.
